

A TRADITION of CARING

1153 Centre Street
Boston, MA 02130

Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation saves thousands of lives each year. By applying CPR, which includes breathing for the victim while maintaining circulation through rhythmically-applied chest compressions, a bystander can maintain life in a person until emergency help is available. CPR may save the lives of individuals suffering from heart attack, stroke, drowning, choking, drug overdose, electrocution, smoke inhalation, insect sting and other conditions that can cause heart or breathing to cease.
